The Third Quarter

Over the period the JSE All Share Index declined 3%, led by Richemont which fell 26%. Considering the challenges, South African economic growth has held up better than anticipated with the Reserve Bank marginally raising 2023 growth expectations to 0.7%. The Rand was unchanged against a strong US Dollar and appreciated 3% against the Euro. SA government finances are under stress with tax forecasts R50bn below budget primarily due to falling prices of key exports and further aggravated by a 7.5% increase in government employees' salaries. These pressures are showing up in a government borrowing requirement of R2bn per business day and the 2040 bond yield is up 1.3% since the beginning of the year to 13% (see graph on right). Margaret Thatcher said, "The problem with socialism is you eventually run out of other people's money" and we are seeing tentative signs of free markets being embraced with public-private partnerships in certain key projects. Encouragingly, Kusile power station units are coming online ahead of schedule, which should reduce two stages of load shedding by year-end.

The US benchmark S&P 500 Index declined 3% over the quarter but nonetheless is still up 13% for the year to date. There are increasing concerns that US interest rates will be higher for longer and the US soft economic landing may not eventuate. This year the S&P 500 has been supported by the "magnificent 7 tech stocks", which now comprise the 7 largest stocks in this index and are up 55% for the year to date. Simply put, 7 stocks out of 503 are responsible for the majority of the year-to-date return of the S&P 500 and if you had not owned these 7 stocks you would only be up 3%.

Over the quarter both Centaur BCI Funds outperformed their benchmarks by over 4% due to zero exposure to Richemont, whilst Dell rose 28% over the period due to strong demand for premium artificial intelligence servers and Truworths rose 40% after robust results. Notwithstanding an underweight position in equities relative to our benchmark we continue to find companies which are positioned to deliver good returns.

Total	100%		100%	100%

The Fund's equity content declined by 2% during the quarter as the sale of offshore equities more than offset the relatively stronger performance of the Fund's SA equities over the period. SA equity holdings rose 1% as the net sale for select shares were more than offset by stronger performance. Offshore equities reduced by 3% due to the sale of select shares and the write-down of Sberbank. The proceeds were kept offshore in cash which now earns attractive yields and represents optionality for future market weakness.

The Fund initiated no new positions over the quarter. Instead, we used price weakness to increase existing holdings in Anglo American, FirstRand, African Rainbow Minerals, and Momentum Metropolitan. The Fund trimmed its holdings in Standard Bank and Truworths after a strong performance and reduced exposure to Mr Price as prospects worsened.

The Fund's relative performance was positively driven by exceptional performance of overweight positions in Truworths and OUTsurance, whilst not owning benchmark heavyweights Naspers and Richemont aided relative performance.

The offshore equity component added a new position by switching its holding in Stellantis into BMW to improve the quality of the Fund's auto exposure. The Fund's holding in Dell was lightened on the back of strong performance. The offshore component performed well due to the strong performance of Dell and Brilliance Automotive, as well as its energy exposure in the form of Repsol and Shell. Holdings in Flutter and BMW detracted from the offshore holdings' performance.

The Fund's equity content reduced by 3% primarily from the sale of offshore holdings that more than offset the net purchases of local equities. SA equity holdings increased by 1% as the Fund continued to accumulate select SA Inc shares. Exposure to SA government bonds reduced with a preference for short duration SA cash. Offshore equity content reduced by 4% as the Fund trimmed exposure to the relatively more expensive offshore market in preference of better value locally, whilst the write-down of Sberbank also contributed to the decline. The Fund retained a healthy holding in offshore cash as optionality for future market weakness, whilst offshore cash yields are attractive.

The Fund initiated a new position in Nampak, whilst it continued to accumulate shares in Curro and Reunert. The Fund used share price weakness to add to existing positions in African Rainbow Minerals and Wilson Bayly Holmes, whilst using share price strength to trim its holdings in Truworths and OUTsurance, whilst exiting Mr Price.

The Fund's relative performance was positively driven by performance of overweight positions in Truworths and OUTsurance, whilst not owning benchmark heavyweights Naspers and Richemont aided relative performance.

The offshore equity component added a new position by switching its holding in Stellantis into BMW to improve the quality of the Fund's auto exposure.
